

Local Information

This section leads you to various resources of local information I think viewers may find useful including visitors information and maps showing where Fort Myers, Cape Coral and the surrounding area is in relation to other more widely known Florida cities such as Orlando and Tampa. I have also included real time local weather data and Realtor Maps which are especially useful when conducting your own searches on my MLS search function available through this website.